Hello,

Thank you for your email concerning the status of your account.

After reviewing your response, we have reinstated your account to enable you to continue publishing on the KDP platform. Upon reinstating your account, your titles will once again be made available for sale in the Kindle Store.

Please note that because we have detected that borrows for your books originated from systematically generated accounts, you are not eligible to receive last month's KU and KOLL royalties. Systematic accounts are those that facilitate illegitimate reading or borrow activity.

You're welcome to promote your book through third-party websites and other services, but we encourage you to keep a close eye on the tactics they use to promote your books. You are responsible for ensuring that no tactics used to promote your book manipulate the Kindle platform and/or Kindle programs. We advise against using any sites that "guarantee" a return on your investment.

Please note that if future manipulation of the Kindle platform and/or Kindle programs is detected, your account will be terminated and outstanding royalties withheld.

If you have any questions, please email us at title-submission@amazon.com.

Best Regards,

Luca F
